Trip Description

This trip will depart and return to Mallaig, a great stepping-off point to access many breathtaking island locations around the Isle of Skye and the Small Isles.

This trip starts at Mallaig on a Sunday afternoon where we meet at the pontoons - just a short walk from the railway station, so low-carbon travel to and from is easy. In fact, if you choose to join us by train your journey up is a highlight as the world-famous West Highland Line has been ranked amongst the most picturesque train rides in the world - not to mention the Harry Potter connections.

After an introduction to the boat and crew, and a safety brief we will have a short sail to our first night's anchorage to get our sea legs and let you get to know your home for the next week.

The format for the week will be that we anchor among islands and remote mainland bays from where we will go ashore with our qualified guide for a chosen walk. On return to the boat, after the all important coffee and cake, we will set sail to our next anchorage. We then repeat this pattern of daily excursions. Each night is spent at anchor under a blanket of the stars. Dram or hot chocolate in hand recounting the day's adventures, planning and looking forward to the next.

Your comfort and safety are always at the top of our priority list so exact itineraries may vary to account for wind and weather. However, we are most certainly spoilt for choice when it comes to places to visit.
